

Wednesday 9th December 2020

English

Can you remember what an acrostic poem is?

Look at the power point to find out more, there are examples of Christmas acrostic poems that you can read through to help you.

Write your own Christmas acrostic poem on the template provided or create your own. Try to include lots of adjectives to add detail to your poem. Use the word wall on the power point to give you ideas and help with spelling.

Maths

Today we are learning about data handling. Watch these videos to find out more about pictograms and handling data

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/clips/zg4d2hv>

Data handling and interpretation - KS1 Maths - BBC Bitesize

Now complete the pictogram data worksheet, using the information to answer the questions.

Challenge: Can you create your own pictogram?

Craft

Today we have included a salt dough recipe which can be used to make tree decorations to paint. There is also a Christmas cracker template with instructions, headbands which can be printed and coloured as well as document with lots of links to websites full of christmas ideas of things you can create.

Have fun exploring,

Mrs Chambers and Mrs Edwards x

