

Friday 11th December 2020

English

As usual on a Friday we are completing some comprehension work for our English lesson. This week the text is all about Christmas trees. Look at the power point to hear the text being read and to remind you how we answer comprehension questions.

Maths

More detective work in Maths today as you are going to be using your number skills to crack the code and read secret Christmas messages. There are three different codes to crack, one involving number recognition, one for addition and one for subtraction. See if you can complete them all!

Craft

Today's craft shows you how to create a moving picture of Santa on his sleigh with the reindeer. There is a template you can cut out or you might like to draw your own to make it really unique! We have also included instructions to make beautiful paper snowflakes which can be hung in your windows to make a snowy scene. Remember you can also use the website links given on Wednesday to find lots more Christmas crafts.

Happy Friday everyone,

Mrs Chambers and Mrs Edwards x
