

Circle of Gratitude

These are circles of gratitude! As you colour each circle, think of something that you are grateful for. It could be something big or something very small, something that you experience often or something that has just happened once. Thinking of these things helps make us feel calm and happy.

