Winnie and Wilbur are exploring the woods. Everything is green and peaceful. Soon Wilbur spotted a massive ginger bread house. He ran quickly to the house and stared. Everything was made out of candy! The chimney was made out of three delicious chocolate chip cookies and the windows were made out of gummies. Wilbur's mouth was watering, he just couldn't resist tasting it. He licked his lips and ate some.

Soon an old lady came through the wooden door. She was wearing a white dress with a matching cardigan paired with white shoes. She had grey hair and she said "come in come in". He had the best time ever, he had delicious cakes and played fun games. When Winnie had almost reached home she said "Wilbur were really home" but Winnie didn't hear Wilbur mean. So she turned around and Wilbur was gone. Winnie rushed in her brick house and got her broom stick and flew on it looking for Wilbur. Soon Winnie saw the same candy house and then Winnie knew Wilbur loved candy so Winnie knew that Wilbur went in there. Winnie knocked on the door and the same girl came and Winnie said "where is my black cat" the girl said "I don't have one" then Winnie said "show me your mysterious house" but before she can respond Winnie rusted and sound will-bur and they rushed out and grew to go home, then Winnie gave Wilbur some fresh, white glossy cream.
