Read the text and spot the air, ear, are, ere trigraphs. Draw a circle around the trigraph. Eg hair

Everyone had to be careful as they made their way slowly up the metal staircase to board the plane. It was cold in the queue and as my head was bare, snowflakes were settling in my hair! I could barely feel my fingers as I wasn't wearing any gloves. Finally, just as I had begun to despair, of ever being warm again, I reached the top of the stairs. I waved to my brother who was already sitting in a chair. The airport and airline had arranged another way for him to board in his wheelchair. I couldn't see anywhere for to me to place my little suitcase, so the stewardess helped me. I took off my shoes, as I find it more comfortable to be barefoot on a plane. I had chosen a cosy jumper and tracksuit bottoms for the journey as I find them easier to wear for long-haul flights. I changed to airplane mode on my tablet. As we took off, I felt a flip in my tummy like I get on a fairground ride!
